LRIS Registration Fees

The LRIS membership year runs quarterly. Annual dues are $395.00, a portion of which supports advertising for the Service.

LRIS Fee-Sharing Agreement

Attorneys serving on the Lawyer Referral and Information Service panel shall charge clients referred to them through the Service a $35.00 fee for the first half-hour consultation. The consultation fee must be forwarded to the LRIS, and panel attorneys are not permitted to charge any more or any less than the $35.00 fee for the initial, thirty-minute consultation.

Fees charged beyond the first half-hour consultation are to be negotiated directly between the LRIS panel attorney and the client. LRIS does not set fees for its attorneys' services, but requires that panel attorneys have a written fee agreement with each client and submit to binding arbitration through the Bar's Fee Disputes Committee should a problem arise (see Operating Rules).

For all matters referred, panel attorneys shall pay to LRIS a percentage of any fees earned and received from clients referred through LRIS according to the schedule below. The percentage applies to the entire fee earned and received. For example, if a panel attorney earns and receives $9,000 in a referred matter, the percentage fee owed to LRIS is $900 ($$9,000 \times 10\% = \900). If a panel attorney earns and receives $11,000 in a referred matter, the percentage fee owed to LRIS is $1,650 ($$11,000 \times 15\% = $1,650$). If a panel attorney earns and receives multiple fee payments in a referred matter, when the fees earned and received exceed a higher percentage threshold, the higher percentage fee share applies to the entire fee earned and received. Example: A panel attorney earns and receives a payment of $9,000 in a referred matter, and has paid LRIS $900. The panel attorney then earns and receives a payment of $2,000 in the same matter. The panel attorney then owes LRIS $750. ($$9,000 + $2,000 = $11,000$. $$11,000 \times 15\% = $1,650$. $$1,650 - \900 previously paid = $750 due LRIS).

Attorney's Fee	Percentage of Fee to be Given to LRIS
$0 to $10,000	10 percent of entire fee
$10,001 to $20,000	15 percent of entire fee
$20,001 to $35,000	20 percent of entire fee
over \$35,000	33 $\frac{1}{3}$ percent of entire fee
